

Research Conference on Integrated Care for Asian Americans/Pacific Islanders (Research isn't just for researchers!)

Where: New York University School of Medicine
550 1st Ave
New York, New York 10016

When: Thursday June 29th 8:30 – 4:30
Friday June 30th 8:30 – 12:00

Who: Anybody interested in the health and mental health of AAPIs.

What: See agenda www.naapimha.org at conference site

This is a unique opportunity to learn from experts, ask questions, and interact with fellow consumers, providers, researchers, students and policy makers to help identify what constitutes effective models of integrated care for AAPIs. Please see the agenda for a full list of presentations and plenary sessions.

Developing a national research agenda is for everyone, not just researchers. Consumers share their experiences of what works, what doesn't; service providers offer insight into programs and intervention strategies that go beyond Western models of care and may incorporate traditional AAPI healing practices; policy makers write policies that help determine who gets what services and how resources are allocated. Researchers collect and analyze the data to identify what constitutes best practices models of care. There is also a greater need to follow a community based participatory research approach that includes conversations with other stakeholders ~ everyone should and can have input into collecting the data that can be used by all. Please join us!
